Lessons in Divine & Christian Love (64)

The love which Christ has shown the world, was love "before the foundation of the world" (John 17:24). Such love is timeless and ageless; it is not exterior, but interior. "I am in My Father, and you in Me, and I in you" (John 14:20). Where the Son is, there is the Father and the Holy Spirit. He desires for His love to fill the trinitarian existence of the human soul. Although He is the head of the household, nevertheless He knocks as a humble guest at the door of every heart of man. For free will has been given to man, and He does not force Himself on man. Blessed is he who subjugates his freedom to His love. "I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with Me" (Revelations 3:20). Happy is he who voluntarily opens his heart to Jesus, who offers His love, and with this love also life and peace and joy.

Comments Heard During the "Open Doors" held on Sunday afternoons between 12-2

- From a non-Orthodox visitor: "The church is absolutely beautiful. I can't believe how close I live and yet was unaware what was here – it is incredible! You can feel that God is present."
- From an Orthodox from Siberia Russia: "Your church has pews like a Catholic Church. Why is that?"
